Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm an experienced system architect and data engineer with a passion for making sense of and integrating large bodies of data. I have a strong background in database design and implementation, and I've built production systems from the ground up. In addition, I have experience untangling legacy systems and migrating them to new platforms. I'm excited about the opportunity to bring my skills and passion to Amway, where I can make a significant contribution to your team's success.

I would be delighted to get to know more about the position and to meet you and the team in person. I am excited about this opportunity and look forward to hearing from you!

Best regards,
Bradley S. Isenbek
